

“The Common Law and the Civil Law Today - Convergence and Divergence”

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Panel 1 - 27th May 2017

The Common Law and the Civil Law legal traditions – specifics and legal transplants

09.30. – 10.00. Welcoming address and introductory lecture

Dr. Marko Novaković, Institute of International Politics and Economics, Belgrade, “Law protecting right to a fair trial – example of questionable transplant”.

10.00. – 10.30. Dr. Asif Hameed, Selwyn College, University of Cambridge, “How Different Must the Common Law and the Civil Law Be? Must One Be Preferable to the Other?”

10.30. – 11.00. Dr. Augusto Sinagra, Università degli Studi di Roma "La Sapienza", “Progressive adaptation of national legal systems to the “civil law” legal system”

11.00. – 11.30. Dr. Marcin Matczak, DZP, “Less of Herbert, more of Hercules: The evolution of judicial strategies in East-Central Europe between 2000 and 2017”

11.30. – 12.00. – Coffee break

12.00. – 12.30. Dr. Jeffrey Pojanowski, University of Notre Dame “Statutory interpretation and the common law tradition”

12.30. – 13.00. Dr. Anne Richardson Oakes, Centre for American Legal Studies Law School, Birmingham City University, “Judicial Resources and the Common Law: The Doctrine of Public Trust as Jurisdictional Hybrid”

13.00. – 13.30. Dr. Peter G. Danchin, University of Maryland Carey School of Law "The common law and civil law traditions today and the question of legal hybridity"

13.30. – 14.00. Dr. Anna Valvo, University Kore of Enna, “Adjustment of the common law systems to the general civil law system”

14.00. – 15.00. Lunch break

15.00. – 15.30. Dr. David Law, Washington University in St. Louis & The University of Hong Kong, “International Law as an Engine of Constitutional Convergence: A Computational Linguistic Analysis”

15.30. - 16.00. Dr. Leslie Burton, Golden Gate University School of Law, “The link between terrorism and poaching”

16.00. – 16.30. Luka Marin Tomažič M.A., European Faculty of Law, “Legal Globalization through the Constructivist and Poststructuralist Lenses”

16.30. – 17.00. Marin Keršič M.A., University of Split, “Conceptions of Contracts in German and English Law and their Legal Traditions”

Panel 2 - 28th May 2017

International law as a source of convergence

09.30 – 10.00. Dr. Linda Frey, University of Montana and Dr. Marsha Frey, Kansas State University, ““Outlaws of Humanity” The French Revolutionaries and their Attack on International Law”

10.00. – 10.30. Dr. Anna Czaplinska, University of Lodz, "The Common/Civil Law Concepts in the Regulation of International Responsibility - Reception or Rejection?"

10.30. – 11.00. Dr. Mateja Steinbrück Platise, Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, Heidelberg, “The role of international organisations in fostering the convergence of different legal systems”

11.00 - 11.30 Coffee break

11.30 – 12.00. Dr. Ian Cram, School of Law Leeds University, “Political Expression and Localism: Article 10 ECHR and the pursuit of municipally-sensitive standards of supra-national review”

12.00 – 12.30 Dr. Paolo Bargiacchi, Kore University Of Enna, “Convergence of Different Legal Systems In Countering Terrorism And Managing Irregular Fluxes”

12.30 – 13.00. Dr. Brice Dickson, School of Law, Queen’s University Belfast, “The influence of the ECHR in the convergence of human rights protections in two common law and two civil law jurisdictions”

13.00. – 13.30. Dr. Lucia Mokra, Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences, Bratislava, “Convergence and Divergence of International law in Slovak judicial system”

13.30 – 14.30. Lunch break

14.30 – 15.00 Dr. Marjolein Cupido, University of Amsterdam, “Common and civil law approaches to group criminality: A practical analysis of JCE and co-perpetration”

15.00. – 15.30. Dr. Vesna Ćorić, Institute of Comparative Law, Belgrade, “The Court of Justice of the European Union and the European Court of Human Rights Procedures: on the Quest for a More Coherent Approach in Human Rights Protection”

15.30. – 16.00. Dr. Yota Negishi Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, Heidelberg, “Intra-Regional Convergence and Divergence through the Res Interpretata Effect of the Jurisprudence of Human Rights Courts: Hybridising Civil Law and Common Law Traditions”

16.00. – 16.30. Philipp Janig M.A. Faculty of Law, University of Vienna, “The General Principle of ‘Abuse of Rights’: Its Roots in Domestic Law and Impact on Investment Arbitration”.

Panel 3 - 29th May 2017

Constitutional and the procedural elements of the dichotomy

09.30. – 10.00 Dr. Paul B. Stephan, Virginia University, “International law as a wedge between the common and civil law”

10.00. – 10.30. Dr. William E Conklin, Faculty of Law, University of Windsor, “Sociality as an Issue in Convergence of Public International and Domestic Constitutional Legal Orders”

10.30. – 11.00. Dr. Katarina Jovičić, Institute of Comparative Law, Belgrade, “The Concept of Fundamental Breach of Contract under the Vienna Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods”

11.00. – 11.30. Coffee break

11.30. – 12.00. Dr. Christina Poncibo, University of Turin, “Integration through Law after the Brexit”

12.00. – 12.30. Dr. Jelena Kostić, Institute Of Comparative Law, Belgrade “Supreme Audit Institutions Of The Republic Of Serbia And The United Kingdom - Comparative Legal Analysis”

12.30. – 13.00. Dr. Chun Hung Lin, Graduate Institute of Financial and Economic Law, Feng Chia University, “Mixture of Civil and Common Legal Systems? An Example of New Trend of Taiwan’s Legal Development on Information Technology”

13.00. – 14.00. Lunch break

14.00. – 14.30. Dr. Dmitriy V. Galushko, Voronezh State University, "Influence of the Eurasian Integration Process on the Legal System of the Russian Federation"

14.30. – 15.00. Dr. Ana Knežević Bojović, Institute of Comparative Law, Belgrade, “Institutional transplants in Serbia – the Stories of Success and Failure”

15.00. – 15.30. Natali Levin M.A. Levin Law Office, Sharei Tikvah, “Basic Laws in the State of Israel: a suitable alternative to a constitution?”